My dear Mother,

I just wrote
to let you know that I am all
O.K. It is time for dinner but we are waiting
a few minutes
for the Major to arrive.

Nothing much to do
this morning but

the usual Saturday
morning inspection

There are two ladies of the Y.M.C.A. here now.
But they haven't yet

started a canteen or given much amusement

to the men. Yet it is a good thing to have ladies around

before we go home

so we can cut out some of the expressions, often heard

all the regiment except the two batteries ^{here} are moving to other towns. Hadley moved in with me and we are a little crowded but he gave his room to the ladies.

No news of importance and dinner
is ready.

Bushels of love
